

C&K presents

Guiding children's behaviour

Presented by Dr Louise Porter

We are proud to have been at the forefront of early childhood education and care in Australia for over a century.

Saturday 29 March 2014 | Mackay Grande Suites

Message from Michael Tizard

In a time where social, technological and economic changes seem to reshape contemporary life on a daily basis, the need to continually reflect upon our personal and professional values is essential.

Through engagement with children, families, community and colleagues, along with professional knowledge and reflective practice, early childhood educators occupy a potent position teaching and learning alongside our youngest citizens.

C&K is proud to support all early childhood educators on their respective professional development journeys. Throughout 2014 we will offer a variety of professional development opportunities across the state that will inform, challenge and inspire.

Child Psychologist

Dr Louise Porter is a child psychologist with 30 years' experience in private practice consulting parents and practitioners on children's developmental and social or emotional challenges. Alongside this private work, Louise was also employed for 10 years in disability and mainstream settings and lectured at a university in Adelaide for 13 years on topics relating to early childhood, special and gifted education, and behaviour management. She has a particular interest in how adults can guide children's behaviour and this was the subject of her doctorate.

Louise has published widely, in particular, she has written a number of books on children's behaviour. These include Children are people too, Young children's behaviour and Student behaviour. She also wrote a parenting course A guidance approach to discipline, plus a DVD Guiding children's behaviour. (See www.louiseporter.com.au)

Presentation synopsis

In this seminar, Dr Louise Porter will compare and contrast two styles of discipline: controlling discipline and a guidance approach. Controlling discipline uses rewards to get children to do more of what we like and punishments to cause them to stop doing something we do not like. The guidance approach believes that children do well when they can. Like us, children want to be successful. Therefore, if they are making mistakes, it is not because they lack incentives to behave better, but because they lack skill - the main one of which is the ability to regulate their feelings and impulses. If we punished them for lacking skill, we would be punishing them for being children. Therefore, guidance does not use rewards or punishments but instead gives children information about their successes (acknowledgment) and, when their behaviour is disruptive, supports the children to get back in command of themselves so that they can return to considerate behaviour.

Program overview

Time
8.30am - 9.00am	Registration, tea and coffee
9.00am - 10.00am	Overview of a guidance approach Louise will examine the difference between controlling discipline and guidance approach. The methods will be critiqued on three grounds: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Effectiveness• Ethics• Politics, i.e. Power difference between adults and children

Additional information

How to register and pay

Each delegate needs to complete an individual registration form either online or manually.

1. Click here to register and pay online.
2. Manual payment - Complete the form included for cheque or money order and send to Attention: Professional Development, 14 Edmondstone St Newmarket Qld 4051.
3. C&K does not accept AMEX.

Certificates and Surveys

C&K is conscious of sustainability, so we no longer hand out surveys at the end of our sessions, or post hard copies of certificates.

But we still need you to complete an online survey about the PD you attend, and we continue to offer a certificate of participation.

Once you have completed a course, you will get an email asking you to fill out a short online survey about the workshop/PD day. After you have completed the survey, you will be emailed a certificate to keep in your electronic portfolio, or print out in hard copy.

Conditions of Registration and Payment

1. Events will run as scheduled on the condition that a minimum number of participants enrol for the event. Acceptance of your registration does not constitute a guarantee that the event will occur. Where an event is cancelled due to low registration numbers, you will be advised at least one week before the scheduled date.
2. If a scheduled event is cancelled by C&K, any monies paid by you will be refunded in full. Alternatively you may wish to retain a credit towards the cost of a future event.
3. In the event of non-attendance no refund will be given for all or part of the event unless you provide a medical certificate/special circumstances to support your absence. Special circumstances will be addressed on a case by case basis and will be made at C&K's discretion.
4. A full refund will be approved if your registration is cancelled at least 10 days prior to the event. C&K Events must be notified in writing (email) of your intention to withdraw. Alternatively you may wish to retain a credit towards the cost of a future event or transfer your registration and payment to another person.
5. If your advice of cancellation is received outside of the 10 day period you remain liable for the full workshop fee, therefore no refund will be given.
6. Tax Invoice/Receipts - Where an individual registration is for less than $1,000 (inc GST) a tax invoice will be issued for GST purposes upon payment. A receipt will be issued via Register Now for online payments. If paying with a manual registration form please ensure you take a copy of this for your records as this is the tax invoice.
